

Dilemma of Homeopathy: An answer to the Medical Science:

A brief medical article by Prof. Paulo F S de Lacerda, PhD ©2010

Key words: homeopathy, homeopathic medicines, quantum of energy, dinamization, dilution

Despite all advantages well known by doctors worldwide of modern homeopathy in the human and animal health ailments treatments including chronic and acute stages of several functional and cellular diseases.

The homeopathic international community needs urgently pay attention to the scientific proofing of the physiological background of energetic quantum of homeopathic remedies on the human and animals organisms...

The reality of this needing it becomes an answer to the real dilemma and it has a basis on the action of energetic waves of diluted and dinamized upon the cell mitochondria as a vital cell element responsible by the processing of such energetic quantum absorption.

Development of a realistic model of mitochondrial quantum of energetic absorption it will become the final answer to the question.

And then its energetic quantum spreading all over on the human and animal tissues and organs as well...

Certainly the sequential taken of photos in high resolutions films of human and animals cell mitochondria upon action of several homeopathic dilutions and dinamizations scales of medicines like DH, CH, LM, K...prescribed by several top homeopaths worldwide.

And so many others ones prescribed by doctors to the human and animal patients it will be the final step to make it become true concerning the scientific basis of homeopathy validation as an answer to the international medical community ...

Several homeopathic salts may be marked by well chose radioactive elements and then be tracked by positronic or even electronic microscopes over the mitochondria's cell absorption and its distribution all over the human and animal cellular background.

Actually we just have some few theoretical models concerning this main question on the Homeopathy, as the complicated quantic model of energy on the human and animal beings but not a demonstrable and repeatable model that may be obtained on such way as described above by the author in medical lab controlled up dated conditions.

Or even old fashion philosophical models and in consequence so on just an endless discussion without real results on the question by both sides, or be the antagonists and defenders of Homeopathy worldwide.

Maintaining the Homeopathy on a low stage of scientific credibility as a called non scientific medical therapeutic and over hazardous critics in the world media nowadays.

It becomes very necessary a responsible “mea culpa” of the world homeopathic community since 200 years ago after Hahnemann developed the basis of Homeopathy as a valid and real medical therapeutics not developed yet since then this final physiological model of action of homeopathic medicines making it so necessary actually in the beginning in the second decade of the 21st.century.

A final answer to the main century dilemma upon the Homeopathy will be finally over..

The challenger it is launched to the world medical homeopathic community.

Brief reference:

- 1) Dictionary of Homeopathic Medicine and Orthomolecular Therapy(pocket edition)
Author: Paulo de Lacerda,PhD
Orion Educational & Publishing Consultants Inc.Coral Gables,USA-1993